¹ Fischer Random, also known as Chess960, is a version of chess invented by former World Champion GM Robert (Bobby) Fischer, in which the back row of pieces is set up in random order, but the game is still played in accordance with the regular rules of chess. Some conditions apply to the order of set up, including that the King must be between the Rooks and Bishops must be on opposite colors. (Read about Fischer Random/Chess960 here: Wikipedia and “Chess960: What The Fischer?!?”) This version of the game has gained substantial international popularity, recently, including at the very top, resulting in the advent of the FIDE Fischer Random World Championship, first introduced in 2019. American GM Wesley So won the inaugural 2019 world title in Baerum, Norway, and American GM Hikaru Nakamura won the 2022 world title, only its second installment, in Reykjavik, Iceland on the 50th anniversary of the Fischer-Spassky World Championship match.

- Tie break: If there are 2 or more players tied with a perfect (4-0) score, an Armageddon G/5/4 d2 playoff will determine the winner and will immediately follow Round 3. See Note [2] below. Other ties determined by US Chess standard tie breaks.
- Entry Fee: $40 by July 5; $55 thereafter. Online registration, only, until 5 pm July 8. NO on-site registration. 40 entries maximum. CSCA standard (hardship, Title I, sibling and senior) and membership discounts apply.

- [1] Connecticut player. For the purpose of these Championships, a “Connecticut player” is
- (a) any player whose state is designated Connecticut (“CT”) with U.S. Chess, or
 - (b) any player whose state is not designated “CT” with U.S. Chess, but who (i) resides, (ii) attends school or (iii) is employed or self-employed in the state of Connecticut.
- Event entrants pursuant to section (b) will provide proof of eligibility.

[2] Tie break playoff format. If there are 2 or more players tied with a perfect (4-0) score, a playoff will determine the section winner and will immediately follow Round 4. The playoff format will be G/5/4 d2 Armageddon game, blitz rules apply, with USCF tie breaks determining seeding and choice of color. Playoff pairings will be highest seed against lowest seed and so on. Each playoff round will result in elimination of the losing player(s). Final placement of eliminated players will be arranged in order of seeding based on round of playoff elimination. If the number of players in the initial playoff round is uneven, the highest seeded player(s) will advance without play to the second playoff round. All other ties broken by US Chess standard tie break rules.

[5] Rating and Rating Supplement. This event is not USCF rated because there is no rating scale offered by US Chess for Fischer Random Chess. Nevertheless, players’ regular rating and the Jul 2023 USCF Rating Suppl will be used for pairings and prizes.
